CHARLOTTE, Nov'r. 1, 1862.

BY TELEGRAPH.

From Richmond.

[Telegraphed by the Southern Associated Press Agent.]

RICHMOND, Jan. 6.

About 11 o'clock last night a crowd of citizens serenaded President Davis at his residence.

He acknowledged the compliment in a graceful speech, in which he alluded to Virginia as the theatre of the greatest battles of the contest, saying the blood of every State had been poured out on her and cries to Heaven for revenge.

He paid a glorious tribute to the army of the Confederacy and the devotion of the women.

He alluded to our recent victories and expressed his confidence in the triumph of our cause and establishment and peace.

Important from Tennessee.

CHATTANOOGA, Jan. 6.

Dispatches from Wartrace state that the enemy had not occupied Murfreesboro this morning. Reports were still coming in that the enemy is returning to Nashville.

Parties just from the front report that Morgan had attacked and routed a force of the enemy at Gallatin.

The following dispatch has been received from Gen. Bragg.

TULLAHOMA, Jan. 5.

Unable to dislodge the enemy from his entrenchments, and learning of reinforcements being sent to him, I withdrew from his front night before last. He has not followed. My cavalry are close on his front.

(Signed.) BRAXTON BRAGG.

RICHMOND, Jan. 5.

The following official despatch was received this evening.

CHATTANOOGA, Jan. 5.

To General S. Cooper: We retired from Murfresboro in perfect order. All the stores were saved. About four thousand Federal prisoners and five thousand stand of small arms and twenty-four cannon, brass and steel, have already been received here.

(Signed) R. S. EWELL, A. A. G.

From the United States.

PETERSBURG, Jan. 6.

The New York Herald, of Saturday, has been received. Halleck received the following telegram on Friday:

MURFREESBORO, Jan. 1.

A terrible battle occurred yesterday. The latest from the field up to noon is that the rebel centre had been broken and things looked favorable. The losses are reported to be enormous. Generals Stanley, Rosseau and Palmer were wounded. The rebel Generals Cheatham and Raines were killed.

A telegram to the press, dated near Murfreesboro, 31st, says that our whole line suffered terribly this morning. Four regiments of regulars lost half of their men and all their commanding officers. Gen. Anderson's troops suffered severely. We are advancing our whole line. Rosencrantz is personally superintending the movements. One shot killed two of his staff officers. The 15th Wisconsin lost seven captains.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 1.

Gen. Rosencrantz captured Murfreesboro on Tuesday morning, and now occupies it. The rebels are retreating to Tullahoma. The rebels made but very little resistance, though Rosencrantz lost the train following him, which was captured by the Rebels under Col. Morgan.

The Herald says: The foregoing dispatch is evidently false.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 2.

General Rosencrantz occupies Murfreesboro.

[Signed] J. T. BOYLE, Brig. Gen,

Northern Accounts.

RICHMOND, Jan. 5.

The New York Herald and Times of the 2d inst. has been received.

Lincoln has issued his Proclamation declaring as a fit and necessary war measure for suppressing the rebellion, that all persons held as slaves in the designated States and parts of States are and henceforward shall be free. He further declares that such persons will be received into the armed service of the United States upon this act, which is sincerely believed to be an act of justice warranted by the Constitution of the United States, upon military necessity. He invokes the considerate judgment of mankind and the gracious favor of Almighty God.

NASHVILLE, Jan. 2.

The Federal's encountered the rebels on the 30th, near Stewart's Creek. After heavy skirmishing, the rebels where driven back with a loss of one hundred prisoners, and many killed and wounded. The fight continued till 1 p, m., of the 21st inst., at which time we maintained our position. The Union loss was extremely heavy. Among the killed were Gen. Sills, Col. Garezlie Rosencranz's Chief of Staff, Gen. Willock, of Indiana, Col. Kelley, 2d Ohio, Col. Shaffer, Acting Brigadier-General, Col. Farmer, of the 15th Kentucky, Col. Jones, of the 24th Ohio, Col. Cotton, of the 6th Kentucky, Col. Jones, of the 39th Indiana, Col Carpenter and Col. McKee, of the 15th Wisconsin. Gen. Kirk, of Illinois, Gen. S. Wood, of Indiana, Gen Van Clive and Major Gen Rousseau, of Kentucky, all wounded, with many other general officers. The 21st, 25th and [illegible] Illinois regiments lost two thirds; the 15th and 38th Ohio lost half of their numbers; the other regiments lost larger numbers. The total killed and wounded is estimated at 2,500. The rebel loss was much heavier. We have captured 500 prisoners.

The latest from Murfreesboro says we occupy Murfreesboro. The rebels are in full retreat.

The Herald makes no editorial commen on the battle.

Gold advanced to 135. Exchange 148. Cotton 68.

Morgan is reported to have been defeated at Killing Fork, Kentucky, by General Reynolds.

Beast Butler arrived in New York on the 1st. No mention is made of public reception. He proceeded to Washington on Friday.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune states that the late foreign news confirms the belief that the French Emperor designs to persist in the mediation scheme, even if he has to proceed alone.

GENERAL ORDERS,
No. 9.

The following regulations are published for the information of those persons wishing to draw bounty of deceased soldiers, in accordance with an ordinance of the Convention ratified the 22d day of February, 1862:

REGULATIONS.

1. The payment of bounty to the representatives of deceased soldiers to be based upon the certificate of the commanding officer of the company, who will state the time of the enlistment of the soldier, the date of his decease, the amount of bounty already paid by the State, and the company and regiment to which he belonged.

CHARLOTTE.

Thursday Morning, Jan. 8, '63.

☞ For Telegraph News see first page.

Change of Schedule.

In consequence of the change of schedule on the North Carolina Road, whereby the Express or Mail Train will hereafter leave Charlotte an hour earlier in the afternoon, we will be compelled to put to Press our first edition of the BULLETIN an hour sooner to meet the new arrangement, and in consequence of the absence of a part of our compositors we will be necessarily compelled to curtail our selections until they return to their labors. The change produces a corresponding derangement in our plans and we hope our friends will bear with us until our machinery is adjusted to run under the new schedule.

Northern News.

We have received by telegraph a large quantity of news, selected from late Northern papers, touching the great battle at Murfreesboro, the raid of a Yankee cavalry regiment into East Tennessee, &c., &c., but as very little reliance is to be placed in the Yankee version we have purposely withheld it from publication.

The proclamation of Lincoln touching Emancipation has also come to hand, but as we have already stated its main features we regard it unnecessary to publish it verbatum, the more so because it is incendiary.

Arrest of a British Army Officer.

Two officers of the British Army, who have been for some weeks past the guests of the Confederate government, reached Baltimore from Richmond last Wednesday. Immediately on arriving at the former city, one of the gentlemen—Capt. Wynne—was arrested by order of the government, and forthwith removed to Washington, his companion being permitted full liberty of action, as no proof of culpability were forthcoming in his case. We trust that the authorities at Washington will show [illegible] The boasted neutrality of Great Britain is a shameless farce, when Alabamas are fitted out in English yards, and manned almost solely by sailors of her marine, and British officers act as messengers. There are dozens of British officers now in Secessia, and the rebels brag that many of them are serving in the ranks of their army, whilst the freedom of communication between the Confederacy and the loyal North enables them to move freely between the two sections. Although the causes of the above arrest are for the present kept secret by the government, it is intimated that Capt. Wynne has been guilty of acting as an emissary or agent of the rebels, and was on his way to Europe with important dispatches.

From Below.

There was nothing of special interest from below yesterday. It was currently reported in Goldsboro that the enemy was marching towards that place in two columns, one on each side of the river, but the rumor was not credited.

Our forces are in motion and will turn up in the right place and in sufficient numbers. We do not deem it prudent to give their numbers or destination.—Progress.

Napoleon to Intervene Alone.

The intervention question again occupies much of the space of the Yankee press as well as of the foreign journals. The centres from which the new rumors radiate are Paris and Washington. The Philadelphia Inquirer states that the rumors from Washington are of the most conflicting character. A correspondent of the New York Herald quotes Seward as authority for the statement that the "Government has never, since the war began, stood so well with foreign powers, and that intervention at present is not among the possibilities."

Per contra, a letter to the Tribune, written from Washington upon the same day of the above, declares "that the late foreign news confirms the belief that the French Emperor designs to persist in his meditation scheme, even if he has to proceed alone." So well informed does this latter correspondent profess to be, that he gives the propositions to be presented in the letter of the French Minister with considerable particularity. The proffer of mediation by Napoleon, he says, "he will be accompanied by a letter from Drouyn de L'Huys, stating in substance that the Emperor believes the proposition of an armistic an act in no way injurious to the interests and honor of the United States, but, on the contrary, eminently useful; that it is not his intention to press it upon the Federal Government, which alone can determine the time when the friendly office of France may be accepted; but that the President must be aware that any protracted refusal of her offers would necessitate the Emperor to listen to the Southern representatives, whose propositions for recognition have hitherto been rejected, because he has always entertained the hope of seeing our difficulties amicably settled and the Union restored. The official communication will conclude by stating that the French government expects that Mr Lincoln will maturely consider the peculiar situation in which it is placed, and also take into consideration the uses and customs established in cases referred to in his proposition by writers on international law.

The Inquirer says that the "concluding sentence of the foregoing paragraph has quite a diplomatic twang. It is very courteous yet very significant. Mr Lincoln is expected to take into consideration "the uses and customs established in the cases referred to by writers on international law." That is a conclusion very like the termination of a hostile note according to the code of honor, where a polite request for explanation winds up with a reference to the 'usages and customs recognized among gentlemen!' It is as much as to say if Mr Lincoln does not accept Napoleon's mediation he must look out for consequences."

Address to the Army.

We publish this morning the beautiful address of Gen. Lee to the army, after the battle at Fredericksburg. The Commanding General expresses the sentiment of the whole country:

HEADQ'RS. ARMY OF NORTHERN VA.,
December 31, 1862.

GENERAL ORDERS,
No. 138.

I. The General Commanding takes this occasion to express to the officers and soldiers of the army, his high appreciation of the fortitude, valor and devotion displayed by them, which under the blessing of Almighty God, have added the victory of Fredericksburg to the long list of their triumphs.

An arduous march, performed with celerity under many disadvantages, exhibited the discipline and spirit of the troops, and their eagerness to confront the foe.

The immense army of the enemy completed its preparations for the attack without interruption, and gave battle in its own time, and on ground of its own selection.

It was encountered by less than twenty thousand of this brave army, and its columns, crushed and broken, hurled back at every point with such fearful slaughter, that escape from entire destruction became the boast of those who had advanced in full confidence of victory.

That this great result was achieved with a loss small in point of numbers, only augments the admiration with which the Commanding General regards the prowess of the troops, and increases his gratitude to Him who hath given us the victory.

The war is not yet ended. The enemy is still numerous and strong, and the country demands of the army a renewal of its heroic efforts in her behalf. Nobly has it responded to her call in the past, and she will never appeal in vain to its courage and patriotism.

The signal manifestations of Divine mercy that have distinguished the eventful and glorious campaign of the year just closing, give assurance of hope that under the guidance of the same Almighty hand, [illegible] and happiness of our beloved country, and add new lustre to the already imperishable name of the Army of Northern Virginia.

R. E. LEE, General.

The Capture of Steamers by the Virginia State Line.

A letter from headquarters, 1st brigade, Virginia State Line, gives some interesting particulars of the recent capture of nine of the enemy's boats, near Piketon, Ky. On its way into Kentucky over two hundred volunteers joined the brigade, though the march was much annoyed by bushwhackers. The letter says:

Soon after the completion of the expedition intelligence was received by Gen. Floyd that several boats were on their route up the Sandy river, laden with arms, ammunition and clothing for a regiment recently recruited near Piketon, by Col. John Dils, and which was stationed at that point. The value of so rich a prize was duly appreciated by our commanding General.

Early on the morning of the 3d ult., Colonel Clarkson, with detachments, of the 1st, 2d, and 3d regiments V. S. L., proceeded in the direction of Prestonburg, Ky. Bright and early the following morning we found the boats five miles below that town, and attended by a guard of upwards of 300 men. The proper disposition of the troops was speedily made, and the battle opened fiercely. The enemy, after holding their ground for two hours, were completely routed and dispersed, with the loss in killed of 20 of their number, among whom was Lieut. Colonel Levi Hampton, and thirty or forty prisoners.

The men, already elated by their victories were still more jubilant on discovering that their capture consisted of nine boats, 60 feet long each, containing 500 Austrian rifles, with large supplies of ammunition; but what pleased their fancy more than all besides were 500 overcoats, 500 jackets, 500 pairs drawers, 500 pairs splendid army shoes, 3,000 pairs yarn socks, 500 thick shirts, 500 pairs, pants, 600 good army hats, and hundreds of heavy blankets, besides heavy supplies of sugar, salt and coffee. The value of the whole can be safely estimated at $250,000. The loss on our side was three killed, and seven wounded.

Unloading the boats and packing the plunder consumed nearly the whole day.

Late in the evening the boats were destroyed, with large supplies of tents and accoutrements, which could not be well conveyed away; and we set out in the direction of Piketon to make disposition of Col. Dills and his regiment of 800 men. That officer had, however, received intelligence of our presence in the country, and we encountered him on the road between Prestonburg and Piketon.

After a sharp engagement his men were completely dispersed, and we proceeded by way of Piketon to Virginia without further opposition.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Speculators and Extortioners.

Editor Bulletin:

Much has been said about speculation and extortion, and truly it would require the racy and sarcastic pen of a Junius and the eloquence and scathing fire of a Patrick Henry to unveil it, and hold it up in all its hideousness to the eyes of a discriminating public, that those who are guilty may receive the proper measure of odium which an indignant and outraged public will assuredly mete out to them at no distant day. But as in the days of Jewish idolatry when the God of Israel scanned the actions of his chosen people and discovered a few who had not bowed the knee unto Baal; so at the present time, when our country is passing through a firey ordeal, out of which she, will emerge, we hope, the purer and brighter, as a reward for her suffering, we find a chosen few who have not as yet worshipped at the shrine of Mammon, nor brought oblations to the altar of Avarice. Among these stands prominent Thomas Hemphill, Jr., of Old Fort, McDowell Co. N. C. He has in a quiet, unobtrusive way assisted soldiers and their families with a zeal and patriotism worthy of emulation. He has not only entertained at his hospital board free of charge numbers of soldiers, but has positively refused two and half dollars per bushel for corn at his cribs, and is delivering it at one dollar per bushel to the destitute families of soldiers—some even at fifty cents. Also, depriving himself of wheat and selling it to the poor at one dollar per bushel. In this good work he has had the hearty co-operation of his wife and daughters, for they have caused the heart of the widow and orphan to rejoice in being the recipients of their favors. But Mr. Hemphill is not alone in doing this good work—others of his neighbors are endeavoring to walk in his footsteps. Mr. John Hemphill of Dysartsville, in this county, has seven hundred bushels of corn which he is distributing to the poor families of soldiers alone, at seventy five cents per bushel. They are "casting their bread upon the waters which will return again unto them after many days." Would you find true and unadulterated patriotism, visit the mountains of North Carolina.—There you will meet with a generous and self-denying people, who are willing to be deprived of every luxury, if it is for their country's weal.

PROSPECTUS OF THE CHARLESTON MERCURY

A POLITICAL, COMMERCIAL, AND LITERARY NEWSPAPER

PUBLISHED DAILY AND TRI-WEEKLY

THE MERCURY gives daily reports of the Market and Marine Intelligence in Charleston, and of Charleston commerce in the leading seaports of the world. The Weekly Prices Current is made up with much care, and from the most reliable sources. Its connection with the "Associated Press" insures the latest intelligence by Telegraph and the earliest news by Steamers from Europe. It has an able and accomplished Correspondent in London (a gentleman connected with the editorial staff of the London Times) and regular Correspondents in New York, Washington, Key West and Havana. The monthly New York Fashion Letters and weekly letters on Life in Washington are additional attractions in favor of its lady readers. Its literary notices, from the pen of a gentleman who occupies perhaps the highest position among the literary men of the South, are discriminating and comprehensive.—Attention is paid to all matters of general concern, especially those in reference to the Planting and Agricultural interest, and to the current news of the day. Great care is taken that nothing shall appear in its columns which should be excluded from the family circle.

The political creed of the MERCURY consists in the principles of the Democratic Party, as laid down in the Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions of 1798 and 1799—the Sovereignty of the States; a strict construction of the Federal Constitution by the General Government, [illegible]
